

The Iroquois wore moccasins

on their feet.

Some of the Iroquois clans are

Turtle, Bear, Beaver, Wolf and Hawk.

The Tuscarora

joined the Iroquois league in the 1720's.

Women made clothing

out of animal skins.

Wampum belts were used to record treaties and agreements between tribes and settlers.

There are four rectangles with the Great Tree of Peace in the middle

on the Hiawatha Wampum belt.

The five tribes called themselves the Haudenosaunee which means "people of the longhouse".

The five tribes of the Iroquois were the Seneca, Cayuga, Onondaga, Oneida, and Mohawk.

Snow snake is a game played in winter with long sticks that are thrown down an icy path.

Longhouses were built

by bending saplings and covering them with elm bark.

A longhouse had openings on each end, no windows, and smoke holes in the roof.

All families that lived in the house came from the same clan.

There was a clan emblem (picture)

over the door of each longhouse.

Clothing, weapons, tools and dried food

were stored along the walls of the longhouse.

Iroquois women

did the farming.

The Three Sisters are

corn, beans and squash

The Iroquois hunted

elk, rabbit, bear and deer.

The Haudenosaunee decorated their clothing with beads, porcupine quills, and animal fur.